WASABI'S ANATOMY (The Monkey)

Wasabi LOVES

Blueberries.

We don't know why. Maybe he loves the smell, or the way they bounce, or the container they come in, but he loves carrying them in his little mouth. (Not eating them).

We have since filled a blueberry container with bouncy balls, so he can feel included in blueberry time.

Wasabi's favorite toys:

"Mardi Gras": Named for its colors and feathers. A Christmas present from his grandparents (who he does not like (based.))

Bead lizards: Made by me. Stolen from my desk while I am sleeping and dunked in his water bowl.

Bouncy balls: Purchased in a full tennis ball tube from SCRAP PDX for $8. A worthy investment.

Soy Sauce: One of his first toys. He soaks it in water and then insists we throw it for him to fetch, resulting in a wet "thwap" on the floor.

Rubber bands: Stolen from my desk; returned, broken, into our laps.

My Favorite Bit to do with Wasabi :

Sometimes we are sad because Wasabi does not have a phone.

"I miss him and he can't text me!"

BUT...

He doesn't even know his ABC's!

(He is forbidden from learning his ABC's.)

This is because if he did, the EMAILS  would find him. And then he would have to work instead of being just a funny lil guy!

"HELPING"

The Rubber Band Delivery Service

I give him a kiss on his little head,

And he gives me several wounds and allergens*.

*I am not allergic to cats, just him.
